Why Communication, Presentation skills are Important?

Good presenting is about entertaining as well as conveying information. As well, people retain more if they are enjoying themselves and feeling relaxed.

You have 4 - 7 seconds in which to make a positive impact and good opening impression, so make sure you have a good, strong, solid introduction, and rehearse it to death. Try to build your own credibility and create a safe comfortable environment for your audience. Smiling helps...

The average attention span of a an average listener is only 6-8 minutes, so intersperse your material with 'spice' and a variety of stimuli, media and movement to maintain maximum interest.

Be aware of your own body language and remember what advice you got from your friend on your practice run. You are the most powerful visual aid of all, so use your body movement and position well.

The programmable controller has eliminated much of the hardwiring associated with conventional relay control circuits. Other benefits include easy programming and installation, high control speed, network compatibility, troubleshooting and testing convenience, and high reliability.

Programmable controllers offer several advantages over a conventional relay type of control. Relays have to be hardwired to perform a specific function. When the system requirements change, the relay wiring has to be changed or modified. In extreme cases, such as in the auto Industry, complete control panels had to be replaced since it was not economically feasible to rewrite the old panels with each model changeover. The programmable controller has eliminated much of the hardwiring associated with conventional relay control circuits.

Future scope of PLC & SCADA Technology:

Now industries are now being replaced by Automation and robotics. All process and work are carried out by machines and robotics process automation. Every industrial sector like manufacturing, process industries, chemical, food and beverages, oil and gas, transport, machine tools everywhere Industrial Automation is used.

IOT, IIOT and artificial intelligence like technologies will be merged in main operating technologies like PLC SCADA. There will be multiple openings & job opportunities in IT as well as OT Sectors, IT sectors hiring as analyst, Tester and developer for SCADA or IOT application & software.
